LETTER FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dear foundation supporters and friends,

First and foremost, thank you. We continue our work to improve the lives of children around the world thanks to Cerner and their associates, business partners and all our generous contributors and supporters. Together, we have changed the lives of 594,594 children around the world.

This past year has shown us the foundation's agility and ability to innovate in the toughest of times. Our strategies for volunteer engagement initiatives, school health program goals and world-class fundraising experiences quickly changed with the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. As the pandemic's scope widened, the need for immediate response and relief was clear.

First Hand took action. To provide rapid relief, the foundation granted <<insert dollar amount>> to regional funds and local efforts focused on the pandemic in Kansas City, Malvern, Australia, the United Kingdom and India. Next, we channeled the goodwill and compassion of Cerner associates and community members by launching Feeding the Front Lines. This relief effort provided ### meals to health care providers and first responders through ### in donations while offering a boost to local economies.

As the nation grappled with the murder of George Floyd and continued racial inequities, First Hand spoke out in solidarity. The foundation made sustaining grants to help reduce disparities Kansas City including a Boys and Girls Club of Greater Kansas City, to help them continue to educate, mentor and serve hundreds of children and families in our community.

While this year has brought about rapid change, First Hand remains mission focused. Despite school closings, the foundation still served students in more than xxx schools in Kansas City, xxxx schools in Bangalore and across the nations. We continued filling the gaps of health care for children who need it the most by providing $2.7M in life-changing and sometimes life-saving grant funding for children around the world.

From the severity of an unknown virus to reality of social injustice that still exists in our community, companies and world, this year will forever be etched in our minds and serve catalyst for change and future growth. It is important as Cerner's charitable nonprofit that we relentlessly work to reduce disparities; that we leverage the talent and knowledge around us to innovate quickly; that we are committed to responding immediately and we have the ability to optimize continuously. I feel honored to be the executive director of a foundation that has the ability to be this and so much more.

Thank you for your incredible support and I hope you enjoy the recap of our success this year. Together, we have done some incredible work...and this is just the beginning!

LETTER FROM THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Dear Foundation Friends and Supporters,

Thank you for your generous commitment to working with Cerner's charitable foundation, First Hand. An invaluable legacy that began in 1995, that maintains its importance to our company, associates and communities around the world.

Cerner believes in fostering a diverse and inclusive working environment that empowers their associates to join together in volunteerism, engage in their communities and build upon our collective pride as a company that values philanthropic fundamentals and the positive impact it has on our society. Through our work with the foundation, we are able to turn these beliefs into action.

The last few months have presented new challenges and created an elevated awareness regarding the need to advance humanity and stand together to positively impact our communities. As Cerner's <<her title>>, I have been encouraged by the heart and action I've seen from the foundation and our Cerner associates. It is truly inspiring to see how we can join forces, no matter our socioeconomic status or location in the world, and combine efforts for the greater good.

<<Transition statement needed>>

The foundation is laser focused on imperatives that will improve the health and wellness of children and communities around the globe; engage Cerner associates, business partners, clients, and communities in meaningful philanthropic opportunities; inspire Cerner associates and supporters to deliver positive change in their communities through volunteerism; and, advance Cerner's social impact.

We have an opportunity, in the near future, to magnify these imperatives and expand the current foundation vision. This will allow us to continue the positive impact you see today and build upon it to further support sustainable change, a reduction of disparities and help build a world tomorrow that is healthier than today.

I am proud to represent Cerner and the foundation's efforts. We have an exciting future ahead of us and this year of challenges has proved we have the ability and the opportunity to take our foundation to the next level <<not sure that is the right statement>>.

Enjoy the foundation's year in review and remember that we are just getting started!

Action & Support in Extraordinary Times

This year brought never-before-seen challenges as communities around the world faced the spread of COVID-19 and people across the United States grappled with issues of inequity and racism.

Health care systems, governments and humanitarian organizations rushed to respond and provide care in response to the pandemic. First Hand remained agile in the evolving environment and reaffirming its commitment to addressing disparities in access to health care in our communities. Through quick-acting initiatives and contributions to organizations dedicated to supporting the communities where Cerner associates live and work, the foundation navigated the unprecedented time.

Feeding the Front Lines

As COVID-19 cases gripped the country and stay-at-home orders started, First Hand established a new initiative to support hospital personnel, first responders and other essential workers in Cerner's U.S. campus communities.

Feeding the Front Lines provided meals to these health care professionals from local restaurants. Funded by donations from Cerner associates and community members, the program showed appreciation to front-line workers and bolstered the economy by supporting restaurants as stay-at-home restrictions threatened their viability.

The foundation pledged to match associate contributions for the first $25,000 raised in Kansas City and first $5,000 raised in Malvern. Those matching-gift amounts were easily surpassed thanks to associate generosity.

Liver transplants save lives. Physical therapies restore mobility. Proper eyeglasses help children thrive in school. Many children are uninsured or underinsured. Financial constraints, insurance limitations, sometimes make it impossible for families to cover medical expenses.

First Hand's application-based Case Grants program provides funding for children to receive needed care. The grants fill the gaps in access to pediatric care which often improves or even saves lives. Since 1995, First Hand's Case Grants program has served 14,653 children. By bridging the gaps in pediatric care, the foundation is building healthier tomorrows for children around the world.

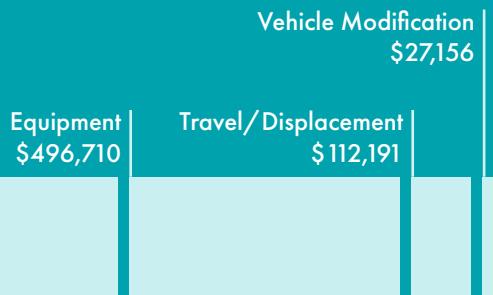

The Case Grants program is First Hand's longest-running initiative.

Healthy students are better learners. First Hand's wellness screenings program for elementary students identifies potential issues and recommends referrals for follow-up and monitoring care. The comprehensive health screenings are free to families and instrumental in early identification of student health needs. After the screenings, First Hand's team works with school nurses and care teams to assist with connecting families to follow-up care.

In the 2019-2020 school year, 7,637 students were identified as needing more care to reach their full academic potential. Through the foundation's advocacy, partnering with school nurses and providing financial assistance, 2,974 of these referrals were resolved. When financial constraints keep families from pursuing follow-up care, First Hand's Case Grants program fills the gap. These students with resolved health issues are now able to focus more of their attention on being the best learners they can be.

"Health and academic success are inextricably tied. Schools have a unique role to play in not only helping ensure that students attain their academic goals, but also in reaching adulthood as healthy as possible. By addressing the health of their students, schools—with the help of parents and communities—can make sure that all students reach their full potential."

Physical changes, an increase in academic rigor, and social factors make the middle school years a pivotal time for early adolescent development. Many school districts do not have social-emotional support in place at middle schools to help address the needs.

First Hand created a comprehensive, evidence-based approach to addressing social-emotional wellness in middle schools. It focuses on prevention and education, screening and making connections to care. When needed, the foundation seeds qualified mental health professionals within the district and works to implement a Medicaid reimbursement model.

After piloting the program in the Raytown C-2 School District, the foundation expanded into Lee's Summit R-7 School District in 2019-2020.

EXTENDED ENGAGEMENT

Now in its second year, the program continues to make a difference in Raytown. The program's tapered approach to engagement means that as years go on, schools guide more of their own professional development. Through the foundation's support and leveraging other resources, the district was able to establish a staff of three qualified mental health professionals.

Analysis shows continued engagement with the foundation's social-emotional wellness program drives better attendance and behavior incident outcomes.

FIRST HAND CARE KITS (FORMERLY LOVE BAGS)

As teenagers, students begin to make their own decisions about what to eat, their activity level and other lifestyle choices. Our free high school health curriculum teaches teens how to take charge of their health, showing how the decisions they make today can shape their futures. The technology-enhanced curriculum uses project-based learning to help students learn about health careers while studying compelling case studies based on common causes of preventable conditions. The cases highlight the health implications of texting while driving, consuming excessive energy drinks and smoking. The foundation facilitated in-person wrap-up activities where students participate in fitness exercises, nutrition demonstrations and more.

Teachers who implement the curriculum note that it helps students understand how current choices impact long-term health. They also cite the program as a meaningful collaborative learning experience. Students agree: 73% report that they enjoy learning in this manner.

Children facing difficult times—like placement in foster care—can feel lost, scared or alone and may have few possessions. The sometimes-sudden upheaval of their lives means they may not have basics like a change of clothes or a toothbrush. Foster parents, who are opening their homes often with little advanced notice, purchasing necessities can be a costly, last-minute activity.

Through the First Hand Care Kits program, children (newborn to 18) receive their own bags full of age-appropriate personal items, creating a sense of comfort and security. The foundation provides the age-appropriate kits free of charge to foster care agencies across the nation and schools that participate in the foundation's free wellness screenings. With the benefit of bulk-purchasing, nonprofit discounts and a largely volunteer workforce, the foundation assembles the kits for a fraction of the retail cost.

Adopting healthy behaviors can prevent or reduce chronic disease and health issues regardless of age. Research shows that adults in low-income communities are less likely to meet physical activity guidelines and often face barriers like location, cost and language spoken.

First Hand's Wellness Center in Belton, Missouri, caters to an under-served population where suburban sprawl intersects a rural community. Participants have an average age of 64. Many are non-native English speakers, and many are raising grandchildren.

The program centers around advocacy and whole-family services. Certified health coaches display unconditional positive regard for their clients and a belief in their capacity for change. This promotes health and wellness and enhances overall well-being.

Certified fitness instructors offer fitness classes to participants at all levels. Advocacy appointments meet people where they are on their health journey and address the social determinants of health. The Center's programs are offered free of charge and with support for Spanish-speaking participants.

Local needs call for local solutions. Through strategic investments by the foundation, in-country payroll contributions and leadership from Cerner India associates, the foundation's health and wellness programs are being replicated and adapted to fit India's unique needs.

HEALTHE CARE | Screenings and Referrals

For some families, barriers stand in the way of accessing health care. Through robust screening and referral programs, additional care and child-centric, comprehensive treatment plans are funded to eliminate chronic conditions in school-age children. When conditions require more extensive care, participants are eligible for First Hand's individual medical grants.

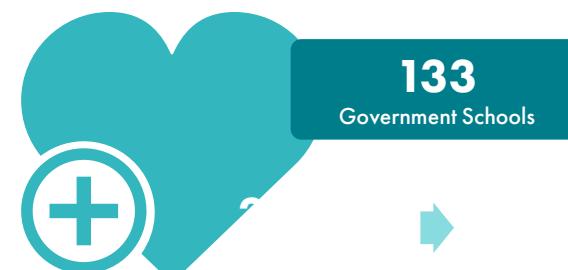

HEALTHE BEGINNINGS | Healthy Lifestyle Information

First Hand India's healthy lifestyle information program sends qualified health professionals to schools to help children learn health and lifestyle habits. Children receive learning materials to share with their families and health kits full of the hygiene supplies they need to put their new knowledge into action. The foundation replenishes the health kits throughout the year so children are never without supplies.

HEALTHE ENVIRONMENTS | Sanitation for Schools

Some children have well-built dreams, but not well-built schools. The foundation's sanitation program improves health conditions at schools by installing drinking water facilities and rebuilding restrooms. First Hand India provides ongoing maintenance by funding the 26-member sanitation team's salary to support daily cleaning. As part of the program, students receive supplementary nutrition bars three times a week throughout the school year. The foundation distributed 317,000 of the nutrient-rich bars throughout the school year.

ENGAGE: EVENTS & SPONSOR SUPPORT

First Hand's work is powered by the generous contributions of Cerner associates, Cerner business partner sponsors and members of the community.

As with so many other things in 2020, the pandemic led to changes in First Hand's fundraising events. The Jeanne & Neal Patterson Legacy Golf Tournament was rescheduled and ultimately canceled. Westport Bounce, an annual tasty tour through Westport, was rescheduled to August and held virtually.

Even in the face of these challenges to traditional fundraising, First Hand enjoyed strong support from sponsors. The foundation's donor base continued to expand, and dedicated business partners return as fundraising event sponsors year after year. Their commitment to the foundation's work is extraordinary. INSPIRE: CERNER VOLUNTEER

Many nonprofits, including First Hand, rely on the generosity of volunteers to fulfill their missions. Volunteers fill critical roles by conducting programs, raising funds, and serving as ambassadors. For individuals, research shows volunteering promotes personal growth, overall satisfaction and builds sense of belonging. When associates volunteer in their communities, they underscore Cerner's commitment to making a positive impact on society.

Thanks to First Hand's long-standing partnerships with dozens of nonprofits supporting various causes, the foundation is uniquely positioned to connect associates with volunteer opportunities that support sustainable change, reduce disparities and help build a better world. The Cerner Volunteers website is a key resource helping associates find volunteer opportunities they are passionate about. In fiscal year 2020, First Hand promoted #### volunteer events to associates. Associates can easily browse dozens of volunteer events and find opportunities that fit their interests and schedules.

These volunteer opportunities improve associate and business partner engagement, not only with First Hand but with our partner charities. Small acts of kindness can make a big difference. When Cerner associates work together, they can change the world. Inspiring associates to make a difference in their communities through volunteerism is at the core of the foundation's work.

The trips offer associates unique opportunity to make a difference around the world. Although several trips were canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the foundation sponsored seven associates on four trips.

In-Kind Contributions

Thank you to the generous businesses who support the foundation through the donation of goods and services. These in-kind contributions allow the foundation to allocate more funds directly to support First Hand's health and wellness programming and individual medical grants to families in need.

Cerner Corporation Logo

First Hand is Cerner's corporate philanthropy. In addition to financial contributions, Cerner provides the foundation with in-kind support including technology, software, office space accommodations and shared resources. Cerner's support is essential to the foundation achieving its mission of helping children and families achieve their full health potential.

Lamar Advertising Logo

Thanks to the generosity of Lamar Advertising, thousands of Kansas City metro area drivers see billboards advertising First Hand at no cost to the foundation. In fiscal year 2020, Lamar promoted the foundation's mission and fundraising events on XXX billboards with an estimated XXXXXX viewers.

St. Sabina Parish

St. Sabina generously houses First Hand's Wellness Center. The parish provides the program's beautiful space and covers the cost of all utilities.

(Adam, we want Cerner to be the most prominent, followed by Lamar and St. Sabina. For the others, it is your call based on space allocation if we want to list their names or include logos.)
